

Statement from Sky News Australia:

“Sky News Australia takes seriously its obligations under the television codes of practice. As a commercial media organisation, Sky News occasionally partners with third party businesses which sponsor content. These partnerships are disclosed within or adjacent to the sponsored content, as well as on our website, in compliance with the ACMA’s requirements on these matters.”