SECRETS

The world of SECRETS is one of intrigue, paranoia and hidden agendas, where nothing is ever quite as it seems. The FIRM is a small, secret, government agency dealing with national security in a world where the old lines defining enemies and allies are now blurred, but where the perils of international organised crime and terrorist groups have raised the stakes.

Inside the intelligence community, three young recruits move into this new world order. Ed Cassar, Sarah Foster and David Skelton face a six month probationary period as intelligence officers with The Firm, but their new status doesn't guarantee them an easy run. The senior case handler, Gary O'Leary, jealous of their rapid rise, is determined to make their tasks difficult while the Firm's Regional Director, Tom Jacobs, wants his newest agents out on the street. The Firm's operations change them completely. No longer can they share their lives with family and friends, no longer engage in office gossip - they are now firmly entrenched in a world of SECRETS.
