

Response from a Nine spokesperson:

- 1. Will the AFR continue to run Advance Australia ads during the Voice campaign? We note the AFR also ran a full page ad on 22 June, featuring an open letter to Wesfarmers chair, Michael Chaney.

The Financial Review would consider any further submitted advertising from Advance Australia based on the nature of the content. As we have said, we would not publish content like the advertisement we regrettably ran last week.

- 2. Can you confirm the ballpark figure for a full page ad in the weekday AFR is $20k?

We don't comment on commercial rates for advertising.

- 3. How many Advance Australia ads have appeared in the AFR in recent months, in the lead up to the Voice referendum?

There have been two advertisements from Advance Australia: the one last week and the previous ad you referred to.
