Audiology Australia's Code of Ethics and Code of Conduct indicates that members should avoid any 'actual, perceived or potential conflict of interest' and therefore should disclose financial relationships with hearing aid manufacturers that could be considered a conflict in the prescription and fitting of hearing aids.