Hi all,

This story has been pulled in SiteProducer – it will take some time for the links to disappear from all indexes as the indexes will need reprocessing from the xml engine

The screenshot shows the Site Producer web application interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with tabs: Home, Sites, Create, Find, and Admin. Below this, there's a section for 'Page Search Results' which contains a table with the following data:

| Type    | Title  | Prog              | S | Update              | Items |
|---------|--|-------------------|---|---------------------|-------|
| Article | Gender on the agenda: Being gay, lesbian, bisexual or transgender in our community ( v34 ) | ABC Far North Qld | Q | 04/07/2010 15:16:10 | 1     |

Hi [REDACTED]

BTW – over the weekend we were asked by QLD police to pull down the picture associated with this story. Given that the man in question has now been sentenced in the Us (the details are so horrific they wouldn't let it go before a jury) we pulled the whole story.
