Statement from an ABC spokesperson,

In the Planet America episode on Monday 22 September there was a discussion about US Vice President JD Vance calling for people to be sacked for celebrating the death of Charlie Kirk, and examples were used of people claiming to have been fired. After a viewer pointed it out, it was found examples were used that were not accurate.

However, the story is real, and there are real concerns in the US about people being sacked for expressing their legal right to free speech. The Planet team made an on-air correction on the next episode, which aired Friday night, and a correction and an Editor's Note have been published.
