

Response from the ACMA:

The ACMA has considered the broadcast that was the subject of the investigation but does not comment on other hypothetical scenarios.

The reasons for the ACMA's breach decision included a number of factors and these are set out in our published investigation report.

The ACMA also publishes guidelines for broadcasters about the rules relating to privacy on our website here.

The ACMA has conducted previous investigations relating to clause 3.5.1 and the investigation reports are published on the ACMA's website here.
