FASHION VICTIMS

Everyone loves a bargain, but what's the real cost of cheap clothes from the sweat shops in Bangladesh? On 24 April 2013, more than a thousand people were killed when an eight storey building collapsed in the heart of Bangladesh's capital, Dhaka. The collapse of Rana Plaza turned the world's attention to the shocking conditions workers in the country's clothing industry are forced to endure.

IN GOOGLE WE TRUST

Every hour of every day our digital interactions are being recorded and logged. With the help of expert data trackers, Four Corners follows the information trail of an ordinary family over a typical day, watching as the family's data is surreptitiously recorded by government agencies and private organisations. It is a situation that alarms many experts: who gathers the information, what are they doing with it and what are your legal rights?

REACH FOR THE SKY

It's been billed as the smartest jet fighter on the planet, designed to strike enemies in the air and on the ground without being detected by radar. But after a decade of intensive development, the F-35 Joint Strike Fighter (JSF) is over budget, a long way behind schedule and described by one expert as "big, fat and draggy". Is this plane a super fighter or a massive waste of money?

HACKED!

While world debate rages over border security, there's growing evidence that the greatest threat to security potentially comes from foreign computer hackers. Few in government or business will admit to the full extent of the break-ins, with one expert calling it a "dirty little secret". Governments refuse to speak up because inevitably they will be asked, who is doing this? The answer is uncomfortable.
