30-Oct-2026

News Corp spokesperson,

Your premise is false. We have reinvested in business journalism in recent times. Our state-based mastheads are now serviced by their own dedicated business news team, that includes reporters based in each state who focus full-time on local business coverage. We proudly take our national markets coverage from the award-winning team at The Australian. We recently added an extra page to our print editions, as those millions of Australians who actually read our newspapers know.