

seedling VS weedling!!

Here is another great word for your dictionary: "weed".

A weed is a wild plant growing where it is not wanted and in competition with your own garden plants. Weeds take valuable food out of the soil and sometimes grow very fast and block the sun from your fruits and vegetables while they are growing. It's great to know your weeds from your seedlings! That way you don't accidentally pull out your new baby plants when you are weeding your garden.

So over the page you will find a fun deck of cards for you to play snap! or the memory game and learn which is which while you do it!

Just cut around the dotted line and you will have 3 pairs of seedlings, and 3 pairs of weedlings to play with. Sometimes weedlings look just like seedlings, so to get you started, here's a key to help you identify which is which. Put on your nature detective caps greenthumbs!

SEEDLING: lettuce

SEEDLING: tomato

SEEDLING: sunflower

WEED: castor plant

WEED: cobbler's pegs

WEED: scotch thistle
