Statement from A Nine spokesperson

Nine has strong policies in place governing the use of AI to protect the high standards of journalism expected by our audiences. Under our policies, AI must not be used to generate images for publication. Unfortunately, on this occasion an AI image supplied by a third-party provider was published in the Traveller section. As soon as we became aware, the image was promptly removed from the online version, and readers have been made aware. We are reviewing our processes to help ensure this doesn't happen again.
