

Cbus is not in breach of its responsible investment policy.

Cbus's controversial weapons exclusion frameworks exclude investments in companies directly involved in the production and manufacturing of core components of white phosphorus weapons.

Cbus will continue to invest in line with its responsible investment policy and monitor its exposures.