

Statement from Roxy Jacenko (15 March 2024):

Re odds - Odds of winning the prize game is 1 in 31,125, if we look at Odds of Winning Powerball in Australia 1 in 134,490,400

- 1. Do you agree it is virtually impossible that anyone will win your house?
No, I don't agree, how often can you pay $29.00 get an online course valued at $299.00 and go in to play for a chance to win a $10Million property, and if you don't win, you walk away with $250K cash – no questions asked?
$250K is a 20% down payment to invest in a property, should you so wish. I ordered a salad with chicken the other day when in Sydney, it was $32.00 and it gave me indigestion and not much else 😊 $29.00 to get access to an online course, a home or $250K cash, a Rolex Watch or a Hermes Handbag looks far more appetising.
- 2. Did any reporter ever ask about the statistical probability of anyone winning or about the terms and conditions?
The terms and conditions have been listed on the Roxy's Brand Bootcamp website accessible to any consumer OR media outlet / reporter from day of launch, 8th March 2024, 12.01am. Should I have been asked about T&C's as you are now, I would be more than happy to answer.
- 3. Have you misled media by saying you are giving away a 10 million house when in fact, you are giving away $250,000?
$250K is the consolation prize if the 1st prize winner does not select the two winning envelopes – so you would be misleading by saying the house will not be given away, there is a chance in fact someone could indeed win the $10Million home and in that case the company retains the $250K for another promotion down the line – however who knows, we might even throw the $250k in if the house envelopes are drawn correctly too!
- 4. What do you plan to do with the house if nobody wins it?
What does Powerball do if the Powerball doesn't go off?

Statement from Roxy Jacenko (18 March 2024):

- 1. How can you give away a house that does not belong to you?
- 2. Are the owners happy that you are giving away their house?
- 3. Why have you not made it clear to the media it is not your house?
- 4. Are the owners of the house – or the company they work for Dezcon – directly or indirectly your clients?
- 5. The house has been for sale since Nov 2023. Is one purpose of this promotion to get publicity for the sale?

Do you really think I would be looking to giveaway a property which I have no legal agreement with the Owners to do so? Do you suggest the people who own the house let me swan around it and shoot in it unbeknownst that it was part of a promotion?

I have been more than generous with the answering of what were reasonable questions, however the below is Getting quite silly – with all due respect, I get you do a job, and I answered below initially, but this – insulting ones intelligence and Those of the property owners, my business partners (whom have been copied in from the outset in all comms and who's name would have matched your property search you reference)!!!??
