Response from a spokesperson for The Australian

You are cherry picking a defence for the ABC that ignores the broader issues of concern around the ABC's failure to meet its obligations of impartiality and accuracy. Have you reflected on the ABC's practice of adding gunshots to audio files or that the Insiders' program doctored the front page of The Australian - and now has had to apologise and re-edit the segment to meet accuracy and fairness standards? Or whether the criticism of the BBC on Gaza and trans coverage might be pertinent to the ABC, which has been criticised for the same bias? Nor does it change the fact the ABC removed President Trump's words in order to support your preferred narrative.
