MIRIAM MARGOLYES IS OFF ON A NEW ADVENTURE – AND THIS TIME IT'S PERSONAL

Following on from her award-winning shows Almost Australian and Australia Unmasked, Miriam Margolyes returns to her second home after almost a year overseas for this three-part series. But she's not coming back the person she was.

Miriam has had a heart procedure, and it's left her anxious about the future and her place in it. Despite this, she's determined to get her mojo back, so on the way back to Australia, she'll stop at three places she's always wanted to explore: Perth, Byron Bay and Broken Hill.

Miriam hopes these iconic locations will be full of people who can teach her what it means to embrace change and face the future, no matter the obstacles. In this journey of discovery, can Miriam uncover what she needs? Is Australia still a place where people can forge their own futures? And can people, against the odds, find the acceptance and belonging they crave?

‘Can there be any more entertaining conversationalist on the planet?’

– The Age

‘Margolyes knocks it out of the park with this heartfelt and very funny series’

– The West Australian

‘More than once (Miriam is) moved to tears by the stories – and you might be too’
