Statement from Peter Meakin,

“What Donald Trump is trying to do is to rewrite history. It was an extremely inflammatory speech in its entire context. There’s no way he can now paint himself as a peacemaker.

Even the thing about applauding our brave senators, that’s qualified too, some of them we won’t be applauding, which has an air of menace too.

The main thing is the Panorama edit is a bad edit. But I don’t think Four Corners is guilty of too much at all, actually. The bottom line is that it was indeed a rabble-rousing speech.”
