

Edited correspondence with Lisa Parkes:

You told ABC radio you walked up with “a guy” to the landslide where you found the baby and its parents, and you handed the baby to this guy after you gave the baby mouth to mouth resuscitation. What’s the guy’s name and do you have any other information about him (ie the town he’s from, what he looks like, a contact number etc etc)?

I walked up a guy whom unfortunately I didn’t know apologies and can’t recall name wasn’t someone I had met or seen before not many people were around me that day I believe the following days more community were out there.

I spent 12 days straight helping in the floods. I didn’t want a hero story, I was a member of the community just helping in many ways and many scenarios. It was very disturbing the devastation and emotional all the trauma.

You told The Saturday Paper that a call was made to “000” when you found the baby and its parents. Who made that call and approximately what time/date was the call made? The NSW Police and ambulance have told us they can’t find any record of your rescue or this “000” call, so any further information you can provide about the call would be helpful.

I believe a call was made to triple 000 as I saw helicopters around, I heard when I got back to the hall that a baby was put on oxygen and was ok I was in shock with what happened and quietly left the scene saying nothing to anyone for days and only talked about it several days after.

You told ABC radio that you called the Children’s Hospital in Brisbane to check on the baby and its parents and you were told they were “healthy, well and fine”. When did you call the hospital and who did you speak to? The Children’s Hospital has not been able to find any patient that matches the details from your baby rescue.

I heard that everyone was ok I didn’t make any call or know if they went to Brisbane hospital. I assumed that’s where they would of gone but I honestly don’t know.

Can you provide any additional evidence to back up your flood rescue story?

I have no evidence to back up my story sorry and there is no gain for me in the story so I am not sure what is happening here, the papers completely blew it up and I asked not to have my name used.

Also, we’ve seen an article published by 9honey in 2017, when you first appeared on Ninja Warrior. We reverse google searched that photo and have found that it's from a car crash in Brazil, not South Africa.

I never claimed that was my photo the person who made my audition video got footage and used images I don't know from where he got the images

I did have an accident as described I was in a Volkswagen Beetle and it ended up round a lamppost and was lucky to get out of it that was what happened which is why I do what I do everyday for work. And the same with that entire story in Singapore etc .
