compost

This is compost!
The more rotten it looks
the better it is.
Plants like compost added
to the soil around them.
It gives them the food that they need to grow.

worms

Worms do lots of hard work
in my garden - under the soil.
They work hard at recycling my waste in dirtgirlworld.
Worm farms are a great way to make a garden tonic.
You can make a compost tea from worm juice!
Did you know that you can make compost from anything that was once alive!
Things like vegie scraps, leaves, grass clippings
all make food for your garden.

Calling all Greenthumbs!

I challenge you to take pictures of all the icky things that go into your compost!

Don't forget to share your Make & Do activity pics in the ABC4Kids gallery!
